

Parentheses

1. Copy these sentences in your book and put a pair of brackets around the text that gives extra information to the sentence. Remember this text should be a subordinate clause (it shouldn't make sense on its own).

Amy who was 11 had beans on toast for breakfast.

The football stadium which is just around the corner from the school is giving away free tickets for tomorrow's game.

My brother who thinks he's the best dancer in the world is performing in front of 100 people tomorrow.

My sister who is called Kate is having a birthday party tomorrow.

2. Below are some sentences. Fill in some information inside the brackets. Remember the information inside the brackets shouldn't make sense on its own.

You will be able to create an alien (_____) like Ogg.

You will need some slime (_____) and a pair of eyeballs.

Make sure you wash your hands (_____) before you start.

Ogg the alien (_____) would love a new friend.

The aliens (_____) have crash landed in our playground.

who are really scary

who is from the planet Boohbar

and your fingernails

if you follow these instructions

which is green coloured

Parentheses

1. Copy these sentences in your book and put a pair of brackets (or dashes) around the text that gives extra information to the sentence. Remember this text should be a subordinate clause (it shouldn't make sense on its own).

Amy who was 11 had beans on toast for breakfast.

The football stadium which is just around the corner from the school is giving away free tickets for tomorrow's game.

My brother who thinks he's the best dancer in the world is performing in front of 100 people tomorrow.

My sister who is called Kate is having a birthday party tomorrow.

2. Below are some sentence starters. Add an extra information clause after the noun which is in BOLD. Remember you need to use brackets or dashes.

Example - You will be able to create an alien - if you follow these instructions - just like Ogg.

You will need some slime to make the aliens.

Make sure you wash your hands before you start the process.

Ogg the alien is from the planet Boohbar.

The aliens have crash landed in our playground.

To make an alien you will need to follow these instructions.

On the planet Boohbar there are many different types of aliens.

First you should mix the slime powder with some water.

Next put some eyeballs into the mixture.

Parentheses

1. Copy these sentences in your book and put a pair of brackets (or dashes) around the text that gives extra information to the sentence. Remember this text should be a subordinate clause (it shouldn't make sense on its own).

My dad who turns 50 next year is having a birthday party.

I support Aston Villa the best football team in the world and watch them every week.

My favourite film The Greatest Showman has some amazing songs in it.

My sister who is called Kate is having a birthday party tomorrow.

2. Below are some sentence starters. Finish the sentence and add in some parentheses. Remember to use a mix of brackets, dashes and commas.

Example - You will be able to create an alien - if you follow these instructions - just like Ogg.

The aliens, who are really scary, like to eat humans.

You will need some slime...

Make sure you wash your hands...

Ogg the alien...

The aliens...

To make an alien...

On the planet Boohbar there are...

First you should...

Next put some eyeballs...

