Write an alternate ending to the story.

Consider these key points...

How would you describe the characters?

Where do events take place?

How do events unfold? In what order?

What effect do the actions have on character's thoughts and feelings?

How will you hook in the reader?

What might character's say?

What devices can you use to enhance meaning in your alternate ending?

Take some time to think about how the points above could improve your writing standard. Make notes to refer to during your independent task.
