If your child has a packed lunch, what would encourage them to have a school dinner?

- More variety.
- She's likes the cheese toasties but is very regimented in what she eats
- Cheese toastie every day 🍌
- There's not enough that he would choose from on the hot meals some days to commit to all week.
- Sandwich options
- More dairy free options, as only thing I ever see on the menu that he would be allowed is jacket potatoe. He isn't able to have anything with dairy in and quite a lot of the options contain cheese. Unless I'm mistaken and there are other options for him,
- To keep prices the same
- My child says he is still hungry after school dinners.
- More appropriate children food. Not curry/ chilli / cottage pie
- Nothing, staff have told me to send pack lunch as he doesn't eat it.
- Shorter ques.
- I don't have an issue with school dinners I make the choice for my child to take packed lunches simply so that I can see what he has eaten as he is still only young (Nursery)
- lower cost
- Portion sizes are small. My child eats a lot
- I encourage the price to remain the same, with trip costs rising and wrap around care increasing plus 3 kids to kit out in new uniform over the next year rather than hand me downs from the eldest child, household bills have already increased so we will struggle this next winter as a family with young children, I encourage school prices to remain as little as possible to encourage children to have warm lunches.

- More variety.

Do you have any suggestions for our themed celebration meals?

- Children encouraged to cook for each other. For example, year 6 to make pizzas for a few year groups. Year 4 to make deserts for a few year groups. Ect.
- need to vary the meal choice - the same 3 week menu is repeated summer- to winter
- Not really, I don't know some schools send a menu out that you can pick on line. The meal is then ready on the day for the child to collect.
- I think you cover them all!
- They're lovely - keep it up!
- Bonfire night- Cookies and Marshmallows 😊
- Schools out summer bbq,
- Taco Tuesday
- Countries such as Italian, Indian, Thai etc
- Instead of celebration meals could you do countries meals?
Chinese/Indian/Italian/Mexican etc
- The themed meals are great and provide a good opportunity for my child to have a school meal in addition to every Friday. He really enjoys them.
- Ask each pupil to design a healthy dinner menu and once a month select one pupil from each year group to have it made as the celebration.
- End of term party lunch would be nice, also a birthday lunch idea has bounced around the kids, where if they are in school on their birthday they get a special pudding.
